BEST COOKING STOVE,
IN THE MARKET.
"PEERLESS," FOR COAL OR WOOD.

THE "PEERLESS" has all the advantages of the popular stoves in use, together with such NEW FEATURES as justify the manufacturers in calling it the BEST COOKING STOVE in the market.
It is the "PEERLESS," because it is superior to all other Cooking Stoves in Economy, Simplicity, Cleanliness, Baking, Roasting and Beauty
1st, ECONOMY. A patented method of heating the air and conveying it through the oven, saves from twenty to thirty per cent. of fuel.
2d, SIMPLICITY. It is easily managed. The fire can be perfectly controlled and kept through an entire season without rekindling.
3d, CLEANLINESS. No dust escapes while shaking or dumping the grate.
4th, BAKING. Its large oven, wherein all parts are of equal temperature, bakes as evenly as a brick oven, and that without turning the articles. It bakes quickly. It will bake upon the oven rack quickly, evenly and well at the same time the oven bottom is fully employed in baking or roasting.
5th, ROASTING. A current of hot air constantly passing through the oven, so thoroughly ventilates it, that it roasts as well as a tin kitchen.
6th, BEAUTY. Made of the best iron, it will not crack. Well mounted, artistically designed and smoothly cast, it is the most beautiful as well as the most serviceable stove in the market.
Each stove is WARRANTED to be and to do all that is claimed for it

Ritchie's Liquid Compass!

THE Ritchie Compass which has been the standard Compass in the navy for upwards of four years, and also in extensive use in the merchant service, should be used on every class of vessels where a compass is to be depended on. It combines all the qualities of a perfect instrument. To extreme sensitiveness and perfect steadiness is added a strength and durability which prevents them from getting out of order like other compasses. The reason for this is apparent to any one upon examination. A single trial of this compass has always resulted in its adoption and the rejection of every other kind.
EVERY COMPASS WARRANTED.

Despatches to the Evening Times.

Gen. Sherman to go on a Diplomatic Mission to Mexico—Sheridan's Order not Approved

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 30.

Advices from Fort Garland, Oct. 11th, say a portion of the Ute Indians have come in and surrendered to Gen. Carson. It is feared the surrender was only for the purpose of getting their annuities, and that they will renew depredations after receiving them.

CORNWALL, C W, Oct 30.

The Crown counsel moved for the sentence of outlawry against Mike Murphy and other Fenians who escaped by breaking jail.

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.

The Times' special Washington despatch says—

Gen. Sherman has accepted the military diplomatic mission to Mexico, and, after returning to Ohio to arrange his private affairs, will leave for Mexico accompanied by Minister Campbell.

The same special says—

The administration does not fully approve the rigorous language of Gen. Sheridan's order to Gen. Sedgwick so far as it applies to Maximilian and his French relations.

A PICTURE IN LIVERPOOL. An inquiry was recently instituted in Liverpool in regard to the excessive mortality of the lower orders" in that city, and below is an extract from the report of the Town Council?

Four years has an epidemic of typhus raged with increasing violence among the working population of Liverpool. Let cholera once take hold of these masses of fallen humanity, and it can scarcely be expected to leave them until it has sucked the life-blood of thousands. Children go drunk to school—ragged schools of course. Women, for love of drink, sell every stitch they wear, saving just the last shred of linen, and then—heaven help the wretches—they sell their hair! This is the evidence of the Rev. Father Nugent, who speaks of one woman, the mother of seven children, who sold her hair to a barber for a quart of beer! Women have been "had up" for drunkenness 114 times and more. In one court the women were discovered "all drunk" one Sunday afternoon. The children club their pence together on Saturday night, to have a "spree," and get gloriously inebriated like their seniors. The master of the Hibernian School says: "You might as well attempt to empty the Mersey with a bucket as to apply Christian instruction while this flood of intemperance is overwhelming us." Chaos has come over the people. There seems to be neither law, order or decency among them. "Children die which are never born," says Father Nugent. Rents go unpaid, for the landlord fears to be pressing, lest the tenants should "pull the houses down!" "I have four houses in Hendersonst," says an agent, "and there is not a piece of timber left in them. They (the occupiers) will take away the cupboards, the stair-cases, and the very slates off the roof and we cannot catch them." We just quote one more horror.—A tradesman and his wife ruined themselves by drink. The woman fell ill, and lay in indescribable filth on her sick bed for months. On a Saturday she died, and remained untouched till Thursday. The husband that day obtained 10s. to secure the necessary attendance, but instead of devoting the money to its proper purpose went and got drunk with it. He went home in that state and slept with the corpse! On Friday some persons sent a hearse to take away the body but when the men saw no person to go with the funeral "they took her out and threw her down in the room again, where she lay till the police had her buried on the following Saturday." As a sequel we are told, "an old woman, who lived underneath, was so much shocked that she died the same night

A HUNT AFTER A $120,000 PACKAGE OF U. S. BONDS. We hear a curious story about a package of some $120,000 in Government Bonds, which may be worth relating. As we understand it, the bonds were the property of a large wool house in this city, and the package had been taken by one of the partners for safe keeping. It was afterwards decided to send the package to a branch establishment of the house, located in one of the western cities; and a son of one of the partners was deputed to get the bonds and take them West. He procured the package at the house where it had been left, on ——— street. It was in a tin box, or case. He wrapped it in a paper, put it in his carpet bag, and started for the business house of the firm, in another part of the city.

On passing through Asylum street he stopped at Casper Kreuzer's boot and shoe shop, to procure something in his line, and in making room for it in his carpet bag, he took out the tin box wrapped in a paper and laid it for a moment on the counter. On adjusting the carpet bag, he forgot to put in the bonds, and left the package on the counter. Nor did he discover the loss on going to the firm's house of business, but after arranging his affairs, went off in the cars with his carpet bag. About a month after his arrival at the West, the firm here sent him certain directions in regard to the sale of a portion of the bonds. He, not finding the package, and thinking he must have left it in the safe at home, telegraphed back that he had no bonds.

The firm then telegraphed for him to return home immediately, for the bonds were missing. He came on and had a consultation in the counting room, with the firm. It was his belief, and their's too, that he had put the bonds into the safe, and that somebody had obtained access to it, in an unguarded moment during business hours, and made off with the tin box. In the midst of this troubled doubt, he suddenly started up with this exclamation, that he must have left the package in Kreuzer's boot store, and off he went to find it. Entering the shop, he said to the proprietor, "Kreuzer, I'll take that parcel I left here some time ago."

The bootmaker turned, and, reaching up to a show case where he kept boots on exhibition in the shop, produced the package. It had never been opened. It had lain for a fortnight on a shelf or counter where they were accustomed to unroll and cut leather, and where the proprietor had placed it, under the impression that it would soon be called for. Finally, seeing that it was not called for, he unrolled the paper, and seeing a tin box, put it, without opening it, in the show case for safe keeping. And thus the $120,000 in Government bonds, after being lost for six weeks, were all recovered. This case shows that people are sometimes careless in large matters as well as small ones.—[Hartford Times.

A CHRISTIAN PATRIOT. Rev. Dr. Hosmer, President of Antioch College, told the following story in a speech at Syracuse:—"A young clergyman, who was settled at Yellow Springs when the war broke out, raised a company, mostly in his own parish, and marched with it to the field. For brave and meritorious conduct he was raised to the command of a regiment. At the end of the three years he came home with his men, re-enlisted and went back. He was soon promoted to the rank of brigadier, and it was his brigade that broke the enemy's centre in that terrible engagement near Nashville, thereby saving the city. When the conflict ended the people wanted to send Gen McConnell to Congress, but he would not go. Then they offered to make him Judge of Probate, but he would not take that office. He said:—'I was a minister when I went to the war; I was a minister while I was in the war, and I mean to be a minister while I live.' He has resumed his work at Yellow Springs, and every Sunday I sit, with edification, under his direct and earnest preaching."

STOLEN AND SQUANDERED. A young man, resident in a neighboring city, was arrested on Tuesday last by detective Curtis of Boston, on a charge of stealing $1800 in government bonds from an elder brother, whose hard earnings they were, and who kept them in a trunk in the house where the whole family resided. The larceny has been going on ever since July last, and was not discovered until the money was all gone. The young man "sported it" very much on ill-gotten gains, had driven fast and fancy teams, patronized fast girls, fought "the tiger," given free suppers to his friends, drained the wine cup and worn diamond rings. He was detected while endeavoring to negotiate the last $100 bond, and he confesses all.—[Portsmouth Journal.

The Pall Mall Gazette has a good story about one of Her Majesty's captains, who, having been placed under arrest, was ordered to give up his sword. He declined to do this, on the ground that he had no sword.—He said it was his habit to hire the necessary weapon from Messrs. So-and-so, the eminent tailors, for a small monthly stipend, and he had no doubt they would let it to the applicant on the same terms.

THE OLDEST GERMAN NEWSPAPER. The oldest journal in Germany, and one of the oldest in the world, has just disappeared.—The Postzeitung (Postoffice Journal), published at Frankfort, was established in 1616, and consequently had to describe the operations of the thirty years' war. This journal was the property of the Princes De la Tour and Taxis, who, it is known, were entrusted with the general postal administration of the German Confederation. Equally devoted to the houses of Hapsburg and Taxis, the Postzeitung has fallen with them. It was tolerated by Wallenstein, but has been suppressed by Bismarck.

GENERAL ITEMS.

—The New York Herald prints in full what it calls the "great debate" between John Morrissey and Yankee Sullivan at Boston Four Corners, Oct. 12, 1853, and heads it with the sensation lines, "Ring Reasoning," "Knock Down Arguments," Qualifications for a Congressman," etc. It is a stroke of genius.

—In a squalid apartment in a house in Chicago, a few mornings since, a man and his wife were found lying dead in a shocking condition, having died of cholera during the previous night, and a little boy, their only child, sitting alone in one corner. The neighbors had rendered them no assistance, and a physician had refused to attend them on account of their poverty.

—Paymaster Lowenthal, at New Orleans, has swindled the government out of about $1,000,000 by means of forged certificates of soldiers' claims.

—At the fire at Bridgport, Conn., Monday night, a fireman was nearly killed by inhaling steam from the water thrown on the hot bricks.

—Leone Abet, a French barber of New Orleans, died at his hotel, Wednesday night, from suffocation by allowing the gas to flow from one of the burners in his room.

—A person who was recently called into court for the purpose of proving the correctness of a doctor's bill, was asked by the lawyer whether "the doctor did not make several visits after the patient was out of danger?" "No," replied the witness, "I considered the patient in danger as long as the doctor continued his visits."

—An Englishman in Albany, on Thursday, ate 577 oysters, measuring more than six quarts of solid meats, at one sitting.—They cost $11 54.

—A boy of 14 years of age nearly murdered an old man of 90, at St. Sophie, Canada, the other day, because the sheep of the latter trespassed on the lands of the boy's parents.

—If all Brigham Young's wives favor their lord with curtain lectures, what must be the nature of Young's Night Thoughts?"

—"If our Maker thought it wrong for Adam to live single, when there was not a woman on earth, how criminally guilty are the old bachelors, with the world full of pretty girls."

The Old Monarchies Bowing to the Young Republic.

We find the following in a recent letter from the able and observant European correspondent of the Providence Journal. It is gratifying to every loyal and progressive American to note the numerous evidences of the profound and growing respect now felt for our country by the same devotees and creatures of royalty and despotism, who, during the dark days of our rebellion, when the star of Republicanism was apparently setting in blood, were heaping us with abuse and reproach, and receiving the blackest of rebel envoys with favor and gratulation.—The times are now decidedly different from those of 1861 to 1864.

FLORENCE, Oct. 7, 1866.

You cannot easily imagine the different feelings with which an American man now travels through Europe. The successful close of the great struggle of four years, has changed everything. The mental suffering which so many experienced in view of the possible destruction of our great nation, who will ever be able to make record of? Can we ever forget the brutal exultation, with which Englishmen and other foreigners rubbed their hands when they heard of our disasters? There were men who heartily wished our ruin and took no pains to disguise their unprovoked hostility. We hung our heads with sorrow, indignation and shame, almost as those without hope. There were gloomy days, during that long agony of the nation, when we were nearly ready to despair, and life itself seemed no longer worth cherishing. If under Providence, we were doomed to irreparable disaster, who would wish to survive the wreck of such magnificent hopes. But those efforts of unequalled heroism to save the nation, were crowned by God with triumphs which surprised the world, and hushed into silence the most malignant and shameless of our enemies. We now hear words of praise and admiration instead of terms of rancorous reproach.—The world is told that ours is the greatest and most powerful of nations, and the enemies who maligned us, with characteristic baseness, have become the flatterers of the country which they still fear and hate in their hearts.

It is curious to observe with what coolness the English pretend that we have no cause for quarrel or complaint against their country. There may be reason enough why we should go to war with France or Spain, but they have done us no harm, and now that we are strong, they wish us well, and will love us in spite of any amount of abuse. A writer in a Tory Magazine, not long ago, notorious for its tendencies to violence against the United States, has had the impertinence to speak of an "American alliance;" not because we should receive any benefit from more intimate relations with England, but because that country would derive moral and material advantage from being able to proclaim to the world that such a relation of friendship was established. The first step towards a good understanding, would be the honest acknowledgement and payment of our claims. The confession and liquidation will come at last, though with reluctance and an awkward grace. It will be as great a humiliation for the governing class as the failure of the Mexican scheme has been to the French Emperor.

As I have already said, Americans have no reason to complain of the manner in which they are everywhere met.

Our influence in Europe is destined to be vastly greater than ever before. No patriotic enthusiast need wish a more conspicuous position for his country than that it is sure to enjoy. Rulers will respect and fear us, and the people will rejoice in our strength, for as long as we represent the great principle of Republican benevolence, they will find in our power the surest guarantee for the ultimate acquisition of their own political rights. The dread with which we are regarded by the leader of the Imperial regime is shown by the earnest protest made to the Sultan against our carrying out so innocent a purpose as the acquisition of an island for the accommodation of our Mediterranean fleet.

Special to Boston Advertiser.

ANNAPOLIS, Oct. 29.

The Governor continued his investigation relative to the Baltimore police commissioners to-day. About twenty witnesses were examined, but nothing of special importance was elicited. The evidence was of the same general character as that submitted on Friday and Saturday. The prosecution has closed its branch of the case, unless rebutting testimony is introduced. The points they have made, or are attempting to make, are as follows:—That most of the judges and clerks and special policemen are radicals; that one of the police commissioners has been seen slightly intoxicated once in three years; that a few of the judges neglected to use boxes for rejected ballots; that all the judges followed the opinion of the attorney-general of the State, and refused to receive votes of men not registered in 1865; that half a dozen of the two hundred and forty judges, and, perhaps, twenty of the seven hundred special policemen, were not men of good moral character, and that radicals have a better chance than conservatives for being appointed on the police force. It is difficult to see how official misconduct can be made out of this, especially as it is notorious that the elections for the past two years have been more orderly than ever before.

The commissioners will begin presenting their evidence to-morrow, and expect to occupy the best part of two days.

ANSWERED. A gentleman who can be easily gratified makes the following liberal offer:

I will vote the entire Radical ticket this fall if Fred Douglass, Anna Dickinson, Thad. Stevens, Roscoe Conkling, The Utica Herald, or "any other man," will answer satisfactorily the following question: What is the use of making any amendments to the Constitution of the United States so long as we are unwilling to obey its present cardinal and acknowledged requirements?

This is easily answered. Your Rebel friends violated the Constitution, and you abetted their violations. Now, the use of the new amendments is to make you obey. Please vote from Fenton down to the candidate for the smallest office in your township.—[N. Y. Tribune.

It is said that among the applicants for Commissionership of patents, (not yet declared vacant,) are Edmund Burke of N. Hampshire, and Judge Mason (each of whom have occupied the position in time past), and Mr. G. M. Weston, an unsuccessful Congressional candidate in the late Maine election.—Journal.

The Constitutional Amendment was passed in the Vermont House of Representatives on Tuesday by the sweeping vote of 199 to 11. It will pass the Senate unanimously.

THE STORM. The gale of Tuesday was very violent in Portland, Boston and other places on the coast. In Portland many chimneys were blown down, and some portions of the walls of new buildings in process of erection—also stagings, signs, awnings, &c., in all directions.

The standing walls of the Athenæum on Plum street which were being rebuilt and strengthened, fell in with an awful crash, and the tall chimney belonging to the ruins of Corey's factory, between Plum and Exchange, was also blown over. A portion of the rear wall of Mr. Clapp's new stores on Federal street, and some of the walls of Mussey's block on Middle street were overturned. A portion of the upper walls of the Savings Bank building on Exchange street, fell over crushing a small shanty which stood adjoining. There were three or four persons in it but they escaped almost by a miracle. Had the wall been a few feet higher they would have been crushed to death. A chimney on the United States Hotel was blown down, and one of the large windows of A. B. Butler's store on the corner of Congress and the Elm street, was entirely destroyed by the wind.

The tide came in very high, but no great damage was done by the water. The steamer Lewiston went through from Portland to Boston on Monday night, but the Montreal, which left Boston same night, had to put back. The Dirigo from New York, and Lady Lang from Bangor, arrived Monday night, and the Katahdin from Bangor, put in there and proceeded on Tuesday night, after the storm, probably). The City of Richmond put back to Rockland Monday night.

The Lewiston Journal says a two-story building 80 by 40 feet on the ground was moved nine inches by the wind. Two bridges were swept away on the Androscoggin Railroad—the Stuy bridge, 40 feet long, near Livermore Falls, and a bridge at Jay. These damages will prevent the running of trains to Farmington until the bridges are repaired.

There was no serious damage on the Maine Central.

In Boston innumerable signs were blown down, and chimneys shattered. The upper part of the staging erected around the new building in the process of erection on the corner of Washington street and Court avenue was blown down, and with a loud crash it fell into the passage-way in front of Young's Hotel, frightening the people in the vicinity and causing a little panic among pedestrians near by.

In South Boston the blow was quite severe, and quite a large number of chimneys and roofs were damaged. The staging on the Catholic church on Broadway, erected for the purpose of aiding the workmen in repairing and painting the steeple, was blown down breaking windows and filling the street with broken lumber. The roof of a house in Dorchester street was blown off, injuring several men, two severely and others slightly.

In Providence six or eight vessels broke adrift in the harbor and were more or less damaged. Two buildings were unroofed and three unfinished buildings blown down. In Lonsdale the roof was torn off the Lonsdale Company's storehouse, and large trees were prostrated.

In Newport the tide swept over Long wharf, and the Old Colony Railroad depot was blown down.

The Tribune says there is no doubt that Gov. Swann intends to remove the Police Commissioners before the election, and will, not even wait should they be unable to procure important evidence. Justice is in a hurry, as the Governor understands it, and cannot proceed with usual deliberation. He has not only declared his intention to finish the trial by Wednesday, but the moment he is satisfied of the guilt of the Commissioners, will remove them in the midst of the proceedings, without even waiting to hear the rest of the evidence. This indecent haste is the strongest proof that the Governor regards the trial as a mere form, which, unfortunately, he is obliged to observe, and that the dignity of the State is to be sacrificed to the interests of his party at the polls. The Tribune says that the Governor made this singular announcement just after an interview with the President, and that the public will not be at a loss to trace in the tyrannical proceedings promised the spirit that encouraged the Rebel Mayor of New-Orleans.

POLITICAL. Geary's official majority in Pennsylvania is 18,216. In the Legislature the House stands 61 Union to 38 Democrats; the Senate stands 24 Union and 12 Democrats—making 36 Union majority on joint ballot.

The Missouri Democrat says the Fenians in Iowa, almost to a man, voted the Republican ticket.

The recent election in Tennessee for filling vacancies in the State Legislature have resulted in the gain of two Republican members.

A Republican party has been organized in Georgia. A State Central Committee was elected by the delegates to the Convention of Southern Loyalists which recently assembled at Philadelphia, and an active political campaign will be commenced at the first favorable opportunity.

Schuyler Colfax recently said in a speech in Illinois:—"Johnson is the body hanging on to the verge of the government, and if he don't mind his p's and q's he'll certainly drop off."

A letter from a rebel section of Missouri says:

As for politics I cannot say much. Nine-tenths of the people here were rebels. How it was contrived to establish the new constitution in this State is more than I can imagine. The rebels talk of having another war. Last year while I was here, they were a lot of very humble individuals; now they are rampant. Every man carries a revolver for personal security. What the result will be I cannot foresee.

Just after Mr. Johnson became President, and it was thought that Gen. Butler would be assigned to command at Richmond, Va., a member of the Virginia Legislature offered a resolution instructing the Governor of the State to issue a proclamation to the people to bury their silver, etc. The said member has just turned out a defaulter for the sum of $50,000.

The Grand Secret.

The grand secret in medication is to help Nature. SUSTAIN and REGULATE—these are the Alpha and Omega of the only theory of cure that has common sense for its basis. If the nervous system is shattered, the muscles weak, and the mind, like the body, in a state of partial collapse—what is it best to do? Reason teaches us the answer

General Grant Cook Stove,

The only Stove in market constructed upon scientific principles.

We feel assured in calling the attention of the public to this Stove, that we have a Stove superior to anything in the market.

A large class of diseases arise from the poisonous gases and vapors saturating our food during the baking process, and infecting the atmosphere of the room.

We have met this demand by furnishing a Stove with an Oven into which there is a Constant Flow of Fresh Heated Air,

Combining with and carrying those gases and vapors up the chimney.

A Great Bargain in a Farm.

The Farm belonging to the late NATHAN MAYO, of Hampden, is now offered for sale at a great bargain, if applied for soon. Said farm is situated on the road leading from Bangor to Monroe, and is very pleasantly located, 3 miles from Hampden Corner and 5 from Winterport Village. Is very easy to work,—well fenced, under the best cultivation, an excellent wood and timber lot, a good Orchard; buildings all in good repair; plenty of hard and soft water. The farm contains about 109 acres, with no waste land whatever.

Any one wishing for a good farm and home would do well to call and examine soon, as it is very desirable that all business should be closed up this Fall or Winter. Also, all the Farming Tools, Stock, Carriages, &c., &c., with the farm, or at separate bargain. For further information apply on the premises, or address GEORGE S. MAYO,

FELLOWS' ORIGINAL
WORM LOZENGES.

WE can with confidence point to FELLOWS' WORM LOZENGES, as the most perfect remedy for those troublesome pests,
INTESTINAL WORMS

After years of careful experiment, success has crowned our efforts, and we now offer to the world a confection without a single fault, being safe, convenient, effectual and pleasant. No nauseous taste can occur, let them be used in whatever quantity. Not a particle of calomel enters their composition. They may be used without further preparation, and at any time. Children will eagerly devour all you give them, and ask for more. They never fail in expelling Worms from their dwelling place, and they will always strengthen the weak and debilitated, even when he is not afflicted with worms.

Various remedies have, from time to time, been recommended, such as calomel, oil of wormseed, turpentine, &c., producing dangerous and sometimes fatal consequences. After much research, study and experiments, embracing several years, the proprietors of FELLOWS' WORM LOZENGES have succeeded in producing this remedy, free from all objections, and positively safe, pleasant and effectual. They do not kill the worms, but act by making their dwelling place disagreeable to them. In order to assure consumers of the genuineness of these Lozenges, the analysis of DR. A. A. HAYES, State Assayer, is annexed:—

"I have analyzed the WORM LOZENGES prepared by Messrs FELLOWS & CO., and find that they are free from mercury and other metallic or mineral matter. These Lozenges are skilfully compounded, pleasant to the taste, safe, yet sure and effective in their action. Respectfully, A. A. HAYES, M. D.

Fenian Trials in Canada.

The Canadian Press upon Secretary Seward's Fenian Letter

News from the Capital.

Official Returns of the Nebraska Election.

ANNAPOLIS, Oct. 31.

The examination of charges against the Police Commissioners was continued until six p. m. last night and resumed again this forenoon at 10 o'clock.

Defence expect to get through their evidence by noon, when there will be some rebutting evidence introduced by the prosecution.

Commissioner Hinds was called to the stand yesterday by the counsel for defence, in order that the Governor might question him, but he declined doing so, and said if he desired to examine the Commissioners he would do so at their office in Baltimore.—Some conversation took place last night relative to argument of the case. Mr Latrobe urged the importance of disposing of the case without delay, and said they represented 11,000 disfranchised people of Baltimore. Time pressed, and if the Commissioners were removed, as they hoped and believed they would be, there was much to be done. Many changes were to be made before next Tuesday, day of election.

The counsel for defence said they did not wish to delay unnecessarily.

Mr Alexander said they represented the Union men of Baltimore and the loyal sentiment of the country.

The Governor said in order to accommodate the counsel he would sit up to 12 o'clock to night if necessary.

BALTIMORE, Oct. 31.

Investigation of the charges against the Police Commissioners was continued until 2 o'clock to-day, when the counsel for the defence announced that they were through.

A recess was then taken until four o'clock when the counsel commenced arguing the case. Mr Alexander in the course of his remarks said that no matter what might be the decision of the Governor, the Commissioners had determined before the coming election to appoint a conservative Judge of the election in each precinct, not because their had been any unfairness on the part of the Judges at the recent election, but because they desired to avoid every cause of dissatisfaction that might exist.

The Governor said he would reserve his decision until to-morrow.

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 31.

Advices from the City of Mexico to Oct 2 have been received.

The news of the mental disease of the Empress Carlotta had been received from the Mexican Minister in Europe. Her disease is styled brain fever. The last despatch relating her condition, dated Oct. 12, gave more hope of her recovery.

The Emperor had been sick of intermittent fever.

The condition of Mexico was no better, though the Imperialists had been successful in all the engagements mentioned.

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.

Steamship Arizona, from Aspinwall 23d, arrived this morning.

Since the change of rulers, affairs are progressing peaceably on the Isthmus.

The river steamer Independencia, bound up Magdalena, had exploded with a number of passengers on board. No particulars of the disaster has been received.

The Central American States all at peace.

The Government of Honduras has decided to remain neutral in case of war between Spain and Chili is continued.

This action is regarded as important, because it favors the Allies by keeping open ports of Ompa and Trujillo for privateering purposes.

Another conspiracy against government has been discovered in Lima.

Dates from Buenos Ayres and Rosario of 11th, state that another desperate battle had taken place between Brazilians and Paraguayans, and, though the Allies claim victory, no details are given.

MONTREAL Oct. 31.

At a public dinner to Hon. G. E. Cartier last night, Gen Sir John Michel, Commander-in-chief, made a speech recommending fortification of Montreal Kingston, and all its west. Also that the volunteer movement be extended over entire British American.

Canadian papers are discussing Mr. Seward's letter and the tone of the American press on the Fenian trials, and generally say that the threats of many American papers, are morally Fenian accomplices, will do the prisoners more harm than good, and cause the hanging of Capt Beale, Kennedy and others, hanged by the United States during the late war.

WASHINGTON Oct. 31.

Commissioner Bosey, of Indian Bureau, had a conference this morning with General Sherman in relation to the temper and disposition of Indians on the great Plains of the West. Gen Sherman will make a written report on this head.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.

Steamboats Mackinaw and Florida were at Cat au Prince Oct 22.

Ironclad monitors have been sold to foreign governments or any person, neither will any of them be sold.

Steamer Sierra Nevada, from Mazatlan, brings $315,000 in treasure.

Private advices from Guaymas say that peace reigned throughout Sonora.

Mazatlan had been placed under martial law.

QUEBEC, Oct. 31.

Hon. G. Carr died yesterday from the injuries received at the late fire.

TORONTO, Oct. 31.

Fenian trials were resumed at noon today. The sheriff having called over the names of the jury. John Quinn was placed in the box. R A Harrison, McNab and Patterson, Crown, and Jennesch and McKenzie for prisoners.

The prisoners counsel appealed for postponement of trial in consequence of absence of material witness, who could not be found on other grounds in his affidavit, and stated that he found great difficulty in obtaining necessary evidence. The affidavit sets forth that the prisoners belonged in Rochester, N. Y., and that certain newspapers had published articles calculated to prejudice minds of jurors against him, and that the prisoner never had an intimation of the nature of evidence against him, and until recently had been deprived of the means of making inquiry of the evidence. The prisoner therefore believes he will be ready for trial in January next. Mr McKenzie urged that delay should be granted.

Mr Harris contended that as to-day was the day the prisoner had stated he would be ready for trial, as the Crown had been to great expense and inconvenience to keep the witnesses here, the grounds set forth in his affidavit would not warrant the application being granted.

The Judge suggested certain amendments which were made, and the application was granted and the trial postponed until the 15th of next month.

The next prisoner brought into Court was Patrick Magrath, who claimed to be an American citizen.

Mr McKenzie made a similar application for postponement.

PORTLAND, Oct. 31.

Fishing schooner Prioress, of Cape Elizabeth, 18 sailors in Fisherman's bay, and will probably be a total loss.

There is a schooner ashore on Hog Island.

FORTRESS MONROE, Oct. 31.

LOUISVILLE, Oct. 31.

Two men were brought to this city to-night who are supposed to be the robbers of the pay train on the Louisville & Nashville railroad recently. They will be delivered to civil authorities to-morrow. A third man named White escaped

Mr Prentice is reported convalescent.

BELFAST, Oct. 31.

Noah M Gould, a prominent citizen of Lincolnville in this county, was killed by a board which was blown from his barn during the gale.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 31.

A special despatch from Washington to the Bulletin says—

Sir Frederick Bruce, the British Minister, expresses a belief that the Canadian authorities will accede to the request of our government in cases of Fenians now under sentence of death.

AUGUSTA, Ga., Oct. 31.

Cholera disappeared from Savannah about the 21st inst.

Freedmen from Bibb and Hancock counties are preparing to leave for Liberia on ship Goldconda.

A Macon telegram says the city authorities furnish from six to ten coffins daily for colored paupers.

Parties engaged in sinking a well in McLinois cav in Walker county struck a vein of flowing oil. Location is about fifteen miles from Chattanooga. Discovery creates a sensation.

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.

John Lambert, who was arrested some time since for robbing an internal revenue officer while on his passage from Oregon to San Francisco, escaped from the police headquarters this morning.

ST LOUIS, Oct. 31.

A large meeting of Irishmen was held at the Court House last night.

Resolutions were adopted strongly condemning the late action of Canadian courts in the cases of Col. Lynch and Father McMahan, characterizing infliction of the death penalty for political offenses as barbarous, cruel, and in opposition to the spirit of the age, and expressing thanks and gratitude to President Johnson and Sec'y Seward for their prompt action in behalf of Irish-American citizens.

Elizabeth F Johnson vs Wm W Johnson. Libel for divorce—Cause, extreme cruelty. Divorce decreed; custody of child given to the mother, and $75 a year alimony.

W C Crosby. J E Godfrey.

Judgments were rendered up in all cases not otherwise disposed of, and the Court adjourned without day.

THE PENOBSCOT ASSOCIATION OF MINISTERS will meet in the Reading room of the Theological Seminary on Tuesday, Nov. 6, at 9 o'clock a. m. Per order,

H. A. SHOREY, Scribe.

—The Telegraph lines east and west of this city were prostrated in many places, by the gale of Tuesday, which blew down trees in all directions. By the active efforts of Superintendent Bliss and his aids, communication was restored so that press despatches were received yesterday afternoon.

—We mentioned recently that one of the dwelling houses on the former Bangor House lot, had been moved from Union to Main street, to be handsomely fitted up as a double tenement. We now learn that the house was purchased, removed and remodelled by Mr. D. M. Bickmore.

—We notice that the extension of the steamer Katahdin's wharf is now nearly completed—affording a commodious frontage on the river of more than 300 feet in all. This is an improvement much needed by the great and increasing business of the route.

—On Tuesday forenoon one of the employees at the Maine Central Railroad, while at work upon the steam saw engine, received such an injury of the arm as to render amputation necessary just below the shoulder joint. The operation was performed with despatch by Dr. H. H. Seavey.

—We learn that a sudden death occurred at Carmel on Tuesday. Miss Verrill, a house-keeper for Mr. Benjamin Robinson, was taken with a nervous illness in the morning after the men had gone to the mill, and Mr. R. was sent for, but before he arrived she was dead. It was supposed to a case of heart disease.

BISHOP OF MAINE. A despatch to The Times of yesterday, from Gardiner, states that the Episcopal Convention held in that city made choice of Rev. Henry A. Neely, of New York, to be Bishop of the Diocese of Maine, in place of the late Bishop Burgess. The vote was unanimous.

NOT YET CORRECT. Probably Gen. Miller will not assume the duties of Postmaster to-day as he intended. His commission has been returned to Washington for correction. The document appoints Charles K. Miller to the Post Office, and as no such person can be found, it is returned to Washington in the hope that the Department will make it read Charles K. Miller, as that gentleman is ready and even anxious to serve the public in that capacity. The near approach of the session of Congress is suggestive of haste on the part of all incomers.

ALMOST A FIRE. During the storm and gale of Tuesday a chimney in the house of Mr. Joseph Graves burned out, and the wood-work connected with it was soon found to be on fire in the lower part of the house. This was extinguished; but soon afterwards, in the height of the gale, fire broke out in the roof, and was extinguished. The damage was not great, but the house had a narrow escape. The custom so prevalent of abutting timbers and other wood-work directly upon the chimneys of dwelling houses or stores, is a dangerous one, and ought to be reformed.

ALL RIGHT. Our neighbor of The Times says he does consider Morrissey, the New York rough and rowdy, as creditable a candidate for Congress as Gen. Butler. Tastes differ. Since our neighbor became an outspoken democrat he seems to have received a great deal of democratic light, and views things through a decidedly different medium! Morrissey is, to be sure, a fair representative of the New York Democracy; but we remember when The Times would hardly have classed Butler with him.

—The lady mentioned in our Daily of yesterday as having been accidentally shot, was Mrs. Charles Smart of Orland. She was at the house of a neighbor when the accident occurred. The gun had only been loaded a few moments, and no person in the house knew it. A lad of thirteen, picked it up and discharged it, a heavy load of buck-shot entering and mangling his mother's neck terribly, and instantly killing her. She was the daughter of the late Ephraim Harriman Esq. of Holden, and leaves a husband and three children to mourn her untimely death.

BLOOD SHEEP. The following from The Maine Farmer is but a just compliment to Gen. Cushman's flock, and his persistent efforts to improve and advance the interests of sheep husbandry in Maine:

Important Sale of Sheep. We notice that Gen. G. G. Cushman has offered for sale his entire flock of pure blooded sheep, one hundred and twenty in number, among which are forty-five bucks, comprising specimens of Spanish, Cotswolds, Leicestershires, New Oxfordshire, Oxford Downs, Scotch and South Downs. These bucks are among the best in New England, have been bred with great care, and the opportunity should be secured by our farmers of enriching their flocks from Gen. Cushman's number. The whole will be disposed of without reserve at private sale.

We learn that Mr. V Darling, for the publishers of The Maine Farmer, has purchased one South Down buck from Mr. Cushman's flock, thus showing their appreciation of the General's efforts to improve the sheep fold of Maine.—Times.

NEWS FROM THE JAFFA COLONY. We have before us a letter from the Rev. G. J. Adams, dated at Jaffa (Syria) Oct. 4th, announcing the safe arrival at their port of destination of the Jaffa Colony, which sailed from Machiasport in this State, on barque Nellie Chapin, on the 11th of August. The passage was made in 42 days, and was pleasant throughout. All were well. At first there was some sea-sickness. Mr. Adams writes that they have been blessed in their undertaking thus far in a most wonderful manner, and that "everything goes on first rate." At the time of writing, the Colony had been at Jaffa some ten days. The Colony numbers 157, men, women and children. All entertain "high hopes" of a glorious future."—Times.

DELAYS ARE DANGEROUS. Machias has been excited over a case of breach of contract. The last tried there was Jane Irving vs Willard B. King. Suit for damage for breach of contract of marriage. Both of those parties reside in Calais. Mr. King buried his wife on the 7th of June, 1865, and was married again on the 30th of November of the same year. In the meantime, as the plaintiff alleged, he had paid particular attention to her, and on the fifteenth day of August and promised to marry her, and urged her to set the day, which she, on account of the proprieties of the case, wished to defer until spring. But as it would seem, he could not wait so long, and in a very sudden and unexpected manner to her, courted and married another lady a little less than six months after the death of his wife. Whereupon Miss Irving commenced a suit, laying her damages at $20,000. The principal witness for the libellant was Miss Irving herself. She went through with an examination of two days and a half. The jury disagreed.

—A correspondent of the Farmer mentions a rare and remarkable surgical operation performed by Dr. Tewksbury of Portland upon the leg of Mr. W. C. Swett of Falmouth. It was technically an "excision of the knee joint"—that is—he removed the knee pan; separated the joint, sawed off the head of the bones of the leg and thigh, removing about two inches of diseased bone, brought the ends in contact, trunnelled them together the better to preserve their union and prevent displacement; and thus made a stiff knee—and of course a single and solid column of the entire limb, in preference to amputation of the leg some four or six inches above the knee. The union of the bones is perfect and very strong. The leg below the knee and the foot both retain their original fullness and beauty, and when standing erect, were it not for the shortness of the leg, which is remedied by a high heeled shoe, no one would suspect that Mr. Swett had ever undergone so formidable an operation. The operation has been performed five times only in this State, as the writer says.

—During the storm of Tuesday an engine just ahead of the noon train on the Androscoggin Railroad ran into a tree which had fallen across the track in a sharp curve, a few miles out of Lewiston. The engine was thrown from the track with a fearful crash, which tore up the rails for some distance and did considerable damage to the engine, tearing off the cow-catcher, &c. Fortunately no one was injured. The noon train following closely in the rear, was stopped in season to prevent accident. The Journal thinks considerable damage must have been done to roads and bridges in that vicinity by the storm.

The recent terrible gales and hurricanes have been quite disastrous to our local shipping. Barque L. Willis Rich, which was wrecked on Abaco, one of the Bahamas, and the brig Hattie May, were both new vessels, built at Sandy Point. Fears are entertained for the safety of several others which have not been heard from. Barque Gen Sherman Capt. J. A. Russ, of this city, sailing from Philadelphia, sailed from Lewes, Delaware, Sept. 22d, with an assorted cargo, bound for Galveston, has not been heard from since.—Brig R S Hassel, which has been due from the West Indies for several weeks, has not been heard from. The fishing schr Castelane, from the Bay of Fundy, has been out a long time and no intelligence has been received from her.—[Belfast Age.

—The Press speaks of a fast youth of twelve, who calling for and eating an oyster stew at Freeman's, was leaving the shop, when the attendant reminded him that he had not paid for the stew. "Oh, no," said the lad, "and I've got no money." "Why did you not tell me that before you called for the stew?" "Oh," replied the boy with much nonchalance, "I tried that on Alcock's but it would not work," and walked out of the shop.

Schr Wave, of and from Rockland, for Norwalk, with granite, suddenly sprung aleak and sunk off Kennebunkport, about 12 o'clock, night of the 28th inst. Captain K. and four men took to the boat, and arrived at K at an early hour next morning, with all their personal effects, and gaff topsail, compass and lanterns of the vessels. The W was an old vessel, owned by the master and parties in New York. No insurance.

TRIAL FOR SETTING FIRE TO A VESSEL. The trial of Capt. Wm. Grant, of Thomaston, charged with setting fire to the ship Young Mechanic, of Rockland, which vessel he commanded, was commenced in the U. S. Circuit Court, Boston, before Judges Clifford and Lowell, on Tuesday. The vessel was insured for $92,000, including the freight, and 22,000 on cargo, which consisted of ice. She sailed on the 5th of March last, for Hong Kong, and was destroyed by fire on the 3d of April.

Speculators are purchasing large quantities of potatoes in the interior of New York at fifty cents a bushel.—[Exchange.

Potatoes are plenty enough throughout Maine, New Brunswick and Nova Scotia, at 45 to 55 cents, and we doubt if speculators make much money "buying up"—especially when we make proper allowance for decay during the winter.

—About thirty new stone and brick blocks of stores will be finished this fall in Portland, so far as the exterior is concerned—and forty or fifty wooden stores. The whole number of separate stores thus in a state of forwardness, is nearly 150—according to the Star.

—The Gardiner Reporter says larger quantities of hay are being sent to the Boston, and other markets from that port, this fall, than for several years past. Several parties are actively engaged in collecting it for shipment, and it finds a ready market at from $18 to $22 per ton.

—The Portland Price Current says that a fire destroyed a tenement house in Clay Cove last week, by which a father and son, ten years of age lost their lives; a jury was held, and evidence enough elicited to warrant the arrest of Mark Sullivan for setting the fire.

The long woodshed of the Kennebec and Portland Railroad, near Vaughan's Bridge, containing 700 cords of wood, was destroyed by fire on Tuesday afternoon, with all its contents. It is supposed the fire caught from sparks from the furnace of the steam sawing machine, the machine being in operation.—[Press.

—The Soldiers' Memorial Hall of Waterville College is to be built next summer of beautiful blue stone with white granite trimmings, making an elegant appearance. The blue stone is found in abundance at Waterville.

—The Houlton Times says that Mr. Nathan Parks recently received a fatal wound by being thrown in some manner against a sharp pointed hoo-handle while driving a span of unruly horses.

—The city fathers of Portland will raise forty thousand pounds of pork this season at the City Farm.

—A Union meeting house is to be erected in Presque Isle next Spring, as we learn from the Sunrise.

FREDERICK THE GREAT AND HIS COURT. By L. Mulhbach. 1 vol., 12mo. Pages 640. Price, $2. Published in excellent style by Appleton & Co., New York, and for sale by Bugbee & Co.

This is an historical romance by a female author, who has already attained a high reputation from her work entitled "Joseph II. and his Court." The recent important events in Europe have brought the kingdom of Prussia most prominently before the world as a rising and already controlling power in European politics, and a novel connected with prominent characters in her history, after the Walter Scott style, will, of course, be very acceptable and eagerly read by an intelligent public. The loves, ambitions, jealousies, treacheries, and intrigues of the Prussian Court are graphically described. The volume embraces the closing period of the reign of Frederick William I., and the commencement of Frederick the Great.

"TOO GOOD FOR HIM," by Florence Marryatt, author of "Love's Conflict," "Woman against Woman," "For Ever and Ever," &c., published by Loring, Boston, as one of its popular "Railway Library," in flexible covers, and plain, easy type, is also for sale by D. Bugbee & Co. It fills 200 compact pages, equal in amount of matter to an ordinary 400 page novel, and is spoken of as a work of much merit by the London Saturday Review.

Secretary Browning, of the Interior Department, has written a long letter, said to be endorsed by the President, in defence of the President's "policy." In this letter he assures the people that they are an ignorant lot, and that their condemnation of the President's course is the consequence of their ignorance. The only really important part of the letter is its conclusion, in which it is intimated that the President will submit to the decision of the majority. If such is Mr. Johnson's determination, the country will overlook most of his slips of tongue and pen, and help him to get through his term in peace and with credit.

FIGHT BETWEEN MINERS AND INDIANS. A letter from Fort Union, Montana, dated Oct. 1, says a party of miners descending the river in a Mackinaw boat, encamped for the night at the mouth of Milk river, and were attacked by a band of about fifty Sioux Indians. After five hours hard and bloody fighting, the Indians were driven off with a loss of twenty-one killed. The whites had four killed and several wounded. One white man named Kent shot two Indians and killed three others with his knife. The Indians were armed with guns, clubs and knives.

A CONGRESSMAN IN JAIL. Charles V. Culver, present member of Congress from the twentieth Pennsylvania district, who was sent to jail some months since on account of indictments and charges connected with the failure of the banking house of Culver, Penn & Co., of which he was the senior member, is still in jail awaiting his trial in November. He has all along refused to avail himself of his Congressional privilege in regard to arrest and imprisonment. He went to jail voluntarily, and will quietly wait the results of the law. Few men have had a more sudden transition from princely wealth to complete poverty than has Mr. Culver. His case is a marked example of the fortunes quickly made, and more suddenly lost, by the rapid fluctuations in values in the Pennsylvania oil regions.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.

The Civil Rights Act seems to be inoperative in the rebel counties of Maryland. The district commissioner of the Freedmen's Bureau reports that on the opening of the Circuit Court at Annapolis, Judge Magruder delivered a charge to the grand jury in regard to their treatment of cases concerning freedmen to see that they were afforded all the protection secured to them by existing State laws. He made no allusion to the Civil Rights Act, or the competency of negro testimony. On the 24th instant a case came before him involving the right of freedmen to testify in a case in which one of the parties was white. In an elaborate opinion discussing the constitutionality of the Civil Rights Act, the judge refused to admit the negro testimony.

Four Years of Fighting

BOOK OF BATTLES:

A VOLUME of Narrative, Incident, and Personal Observation, with the Army and Navy, East, West, North, and South, from the first battle of Bull Run to the Fall of Richmond, by CHARLES CARLETON COFFIN.

"CARLETON,"

The Army Correspondent of the "Boston Journal," and author of "Winning his Way," "Following the Flag," "My Days and Nights on the Battle-Field," etc., beautifully illustrated, with a Steel Engraving of the Author, in the highest style of art, by RITCHIE, and FULL-PAGE ILLUSTRATIONS.

His letters have given delight to millions of loyal hearts in our own land, and many of them have been republished in England, France, and Germany. His descriptions of battles are marked by clearness and vigor of comprehensive statement, a truthfulness and correctness which give them a high historic value.

The volume is wholly historic. In addition to the description of battles, incidents of marches, the camp, and the hospital, there is a chapter of exceeding interest, giving the secret history of the rebel cotton loan in England and France, from original documents which were obtained in Richmond.

This volume will be sold by subscription exclusively. It forms a handsome octavo volume of about 650 pages,—558 of reading matter,—printed on fine paper and in clear type. Price in leather, $4.50; cloth, $3.50.

The agent, J. W. WELLINGTON, will be at Bartlett's Book Store, corner of Exchange street and Kenduskeag Bridge, from 8 to 9 A. M., and 12 to 2 P. M., where copies of the work can be seen.

FOUR YEARS OF FIGHTING is sold wholly by authorized agents, and never put in the Book Stores. TICKNOR & FIELDS, Publishers.

HOUSE-KEEPERS

THE Subscriber offers to the citizens of BANGOR, a rare chance to avail themselves of the unparalleled benefits of COL. A. BAILEY'S CELEBRATED FEATHER DRESSING AND

RENOVATING MACHINE.

The most successful patent of the kind ever offered to the public; and we venture the prediction that it never will be excelled for it proves to be exactly what all conditions and qualities of feathers, from entirely new to old and much worn, need to render them as perfect as age, quality and condition will admit of their being made. The cleansing is done entirely by steam.

One dollar and fifty cents per bed, including the pillows and bolster, provided the feathers are suitable to run with the bed.

I will call at each house to receive the beds and return them when finished.

HEAVEN.

BY THE AUTHOR OF "OVER THE RIVER."

Beyond those chilling winds and gloomy skies,
 Beyond death's cloudy portal,
There is a land where beauty never dies
 And love becomes immortal.

A land whose light is never dimmed by shade,
 Whose fields are ever vernal;
Where nothing beautiful can ever fade,
 But blooms for aye, eternal.

We may not know how sweet its balmy air,
 How bright and fair its flowers;
We may not hear the songs that echo there,
 Through those enchanted bowers.

The city's shining towers we may not see
 With our dim earthly vision;
For Death, the silent warden, keeps the key
 That opes those gates elysian.

But sometimes, when adown the western sky
 The fiery sunset lingers,
Its golden gates swing inward noiselessly,
 Unlocked by unseen fingers.

And while they stand a moment half ajar,
 Gleams from the inner glory
Stream brightly through the azure vault afar,
 And half reveal the story.

O land unknown! O, land of love divine!
 Father, all-wise, eternal,
Guide these wandering way-worn feet of mine
 Into those pastures vernal!

The Glacial Wonders of Switzerland.

"Carleton" in one of his recent letters from Europe, gives an account of the vast "Mer de Glace" or Sea of Ice, in the Alps, and states many interesting and wonderful facts many of which will perhaps be new to our readers.

The glacier knows as the Mer de Glace or sea of ice, is easily reached from Chamounix. A walk of three miles over a smooth, level road, through the fields, brings you to its base, or a mule ride of two hours up the mountain side will bring you to the hospice, or house of Montanvert, where you may look out upon the frozen 'sea' which is not a sea but a river of ice ever in motion.

I shall not attempt any scientific or pretentious description, neither shall I go into rapturous ecstacy over the glaciers of the Alps, but shall endeavor to represent them just as they appear to me. I will ask your readers to immagine themselves in the valley of Chamounix, through which flows the river Arve, a stream of the color of rice water, and which is joined by the Arveron, which has its source in the glacier. The valley is as green as the fields of New England in the month of June, although the little village of Chamounix is 3500 feet above the level of the sea. Flowers are in bloom—wild pansies, violets, harebells, dandelions and clover in the fields—dahlias, jessamins, marigolds, hollyhocks and roses in the gardens. Yet the harvests have been gathered—the wheat and the flax—and the peasant women are digging the potatoes.

We climb the mountain side with the summit of Mount Blanc in full view, gleaming in the bright sunshine twelve thousand feet above us. Our path is a zigzag course through the cedars. It is easy for man as mule, and any lady with vigorous health and energy can easily reach the house at Montanvert, from which you go down upon the river.

Standing by the house and looking across the icy stream, you see a shaft which rises thirteen thousand feet above the sea—a solid pinnacle of rock—rising like a minaret above the snow, which lies in white fields at its base and clings to the clefts in the perpendicular walls—never measured by plummet—never scaled except by the Eagle and whose summit never but once has been trod by human feet. Mer de Glace comes down from the eastern side of this pinnacle, so that as you look eastward or up the stream you behold a bend of the frozen sea, beyond which rise a series of sharp points, as jagged and irregular as the broken teeth of a saw; some sharp as needles, others broken off or chipped wholly out; shafts they are of solid rock, with glacial rivulets extending down to the great river.

Between these flinty banks flows the stream of ice, its movement imperceptible to human eyes, slow as the centuries, and visible only to Him with whom a thousand years are as a day.

Go down upon the stream, but pause a moment before setting your feet upon the frozen crystal, and examine the stone drift along the bank—boulders of a thousand tons, pebbles, granules—which lie in a great furrow, two hundred feet in hight, as truly a furrow as any turned by a plowman! Descending this we stand upon the pure crystal which hundred of years ago started on its course. In the years long gone, before Columbus looked out upon that 'green and sunny isle,' beyond which lay the New World, a cloud floated over this Alpine range, and left its snow flakes upon the lofty pinnacles, and here they are. They are moving towards the valley at the rate of a foot a day; but away up yonder, perhaps, but a foot in a score of years.

It is not a compact, solid mass, but lies in huge waves piled like the billows of the stormy Atlantic. It is fifty feet higher in the middle than on either shore, thrown up by the compress against the edge of the gorge. It is no magnificent river, but as wide as the Connecticut at Springfield, or the Merimac at Newport, deeper, stronger, mightier than they.

In the great bend about us the ice is splintered into millions of fragments—wedge-shaped, square, or rectangular, many sided, huge, massive—piled in chaotic confusion, with gaping fissures opening to dark, deep caverns. How quickly would set life's sun, should we chance to slip!—a hundred years hence some dwellers of the peaceful valley might gather up our bones at the foot of the glacier—not before. Forty years ago—so runs the story of the guide—five men were swept into a fissure of a glacier by a gust of wind, and three years since their bones and clothing appeared at the foot of the ice-river.

As we walked up and down the Mer we find boulders of granite imbedded in the ice or lying on the surface. They are but atoms in the stream floating down the frozen tide. Crossing to the northern shore, we find a larger furrow or line of drift than that along the southern bank. There are three separate elevations of stone drift—nothing but stone—in boulders, pebbles, or powdered marking distinct periods in the progress of the glacier. They are tide-marks. Furrows freshly turned by an American farmer for fall seeding are not more distinct than they.

Think of it, furrows of boulders as high as Bunker Hill monument! What a plowshare! Boulders from which you might quarry the pillars of the Boston Custom House and the largest blocks of that edifice! They bear marks of having been ground together and rolled over and over like apples in the hopper of a cider mill, not sudden grinding, but by a motion as slow as the march of centuries. They have been crushed, broken and rounded by the resistless power impelling the stream.

Notice how quickly nature begins her productions of life. There is no soil—not a particle of vegetable mold in the furrow—nothing but granular quartz, yet mosses, sorrel, grasses and even the dandelion and heath have taken root. I plucked flowers within one hundred feet of the glacier. A butterfly with gaudy wings comes flitting over the frozen sea—the insect of a day. What more are we?

Walk down the northern bank along the Mauvais Pas—the Bad Way, creeping carefully, lest a misstep we fall headlong down the precipice into the deep fissures of the stream. Above us, thousands of feet are the crags of the upper mountain, overhanging our path.

Perhaps we had better not stop long, just here, for at this season of the year when the snows are melting there are frequent slides, says our guide, as near as we can make out his rapidly spoken French.

But with such views opening before us—such exhibitions of grandeur and majesty how can we hasten? But pushed on by our guide we go down, down, down the dizzy way, steadying our steps by the iron rod fastened to the precipice for that purpose.

Halting to rest at the chalet, erected at the foot of the Bad Way, we may gaze at our leisure upon the glacier, where it bends over the precipice and falls into the valley. It is not quite a perpendicular decent, but yet so steep that it would be difficult to climb up the frozen cataract. Immagine Niagara to be frozen into a solid mass. No, not that, for Niagara is but a miniature fall, a roadside stream compared with this. Lift Niagara a fifteen hundred feet, widen and expand it, then let it be frozen into a solid mass, let all the mighty torrent which comes rushing down from the upper lakes become solid ice, then break it into blocks of every shape and form, pile them in chaotic confusion, and you have the great cataract of the Mer de Glace.

Let us go down into the valley and take a look at the foot of the glacier, which is over melting, ever running away, yet never disappearing. The river Arveron comes rushing from the glacier. The mountain of ice is ever dropping off, but behind it there is an exhaustless supply. Though the sun streams down his warmest beams, there is no perceptible shortening of the stream through the day—very little through the year. What is lost in summer is regained in winter. Centuries of sunshine have not lessened it.

Here lie the boulders, pebbles and granules—themselves mountains—the stone drift of the upper Alps, brought down just as the Merrimack brings leaves twigs and forest growth from the New Hampshire hills. While gazing into the dark cavern from which issues the Arveron, a boulder rolls from the melting mass and falls with a crash upon the rocks at our feet. For thousands of years this has been the lower end of this glacier. A forest of pines—tall, gigantic trees—has grown up over the stone drift of former periods. Millions of cart loads of pebbles are heaped in the valley, brought down by the ice river.

How inexpressible the emotions of the soul as you look upon the ever-descending sea of ice, moving imperceptibly with resistless force, sweeping down granite blocks and slabs of rock. Though they weigh an hundred or a thousand tons they are no more than thistle-down upon the waves! How the stream crushes the solid rock—grinding to finest powder the hardest granite! It is the mill of God! How grand its work in the economy of nature! Look at the grist forever pouring out, making the Arveron of milky whiteness, each drop of water surcharged with the flour of the granite held in solution. You see the fine white flour in the eddies of the stream. The peasants of the valley gather it for their grass lands—mica, quartz, lime and feldspar. The meadows of Savoy are white with this dust of the mountains. It is the flour of the rock. Brand it superfine and pure.

Is it not thus? Listen to the voices of these frozen waters, in the awful stillness we hear them saying: 'We grind the rocks. We bring them down from above the clouds—from the pure air of heaven. Ours is the tide-mill of centuries; slow our grinding, but sure and effectual. We bring wheat, wine, oil and honey from the rocks! Through countless ages we have been grinding our grist for the human race. We make the soil. See how life springs up along our mountain furrows! See the pansies, violets and clover blooms in the meadows—clusters of purpling grapes in the vineyards—geraniums and roses in the gardens! The sea drinks up the milky Arveron; the winds and waves and the deep ocean currents will bear our grinding to distant lands; wanderers by the seaside may write their names in flour from our mill, upon every wave-washed beach; the coral insect of the Southern sea may build his marvelous palace with the lime which we send him from above the clouds! After him the palm and the pine, and then the realm of human life!

How pleasurable to sit at the feet of that shining river and listen to its instructions upon the changes of nature; to behold its resistless power; to look backward and also forward to the eternal year, to comprehend, in some measure the great moral which it teaches—that God is in no hurry!

O how refreshing to sit there and receive the strength of Nature, when heart-sick with news from home—of the departure from right of those whom we thought could never change, who have seemingly forgotten the sacrifices and devotion of those who died in the service of their country. But sitting there upon a stone brought by that icy river from above the clouds, which has been centuries on its way, how sustaining to the soul, to think that God's day is not done; that, as this river of crystal runs its resistless course, so shall it be with Justice and Truth.

Several years ago Thomas H. Benton was travelling through one of the border counties of Missouri, when hearing that Court was in session at a certain point, he concluded to pass that way and give it a call. Passing through forest and briar, he was directed to a 'clearing,' where a rough frame of a house, without roof, might be seen, surrounded by stumps of trees and supported by splices of sapling. The 'Judge' was seated on a log without his coat. Presently the Sheriff made his appearance.

'Mr. Sheriff,' said the Judge, 'have you got that jury?'

The Sheriff, blowing and sweating, replied:

'Got nine of 'em, your honor, out here in the thicket, tied with hickory withes.'

'The —— you have!' roared the Judge, 'where is the other three?'

'Ez for them' answered the Sheriff, 'I've done all I could do—set two dogs and three niggers on their trail, an' I reck'n they will fetch 'em by in by.'

Housekeeping is human, boarding is simply animal. Yet even the lower animals know enough to avoid boarding; the only exception of the Western rattlesnake, who is said to take lodging and meals with the prairie dog. Apparent exception, we say, because our friend the crotalus, is not so stupid as really to sink himself into a mere boarder. Every little while he swallows his landlord or one of the family, which, in a manner, is a laudable reversal of the custom in human boarding houses.—[The Nation.

SNOW POWDER

Patented May 29, 1866.

This is an article for washing without rubbing, except in very dirty places, which will require a very slight rub; and unlike other preparations offered for a like purpose, WILL NOT ROT THE CLOTHES, but will leave them much WHITER than ordinary methods, without the usual wear and tear.

It removes grease spots as if by magic, and softens the dirt by soaking, so that rinsing will in ordinary cases entirely remove it.

This powder is prepared in accordance with chemical science, and upon a process peculiar to itself, which is secured by Letters Patent. It has been in use for more than a year, and has proved itself an universal favorite wherever it has been used. Among the advantages claimed are the following, viz:—

It saves all the expense of soap usually used on cotton and linen goods.

It saves most of the labor of rubbing, and wear and tear.

Also, for cleaning windows it is unsurpassed.—With one quarter the time and labor usually required, it imparts a beautiful gloss and lustre, much superior to any other mode. No water required except to moisten the powder.

Directions with each package.

And can be readily appreciated by a single trial. The cost of washing for a family of five or six persons will not exceed THREE CENTS.

The manufacturers of this powder are aware that many useless compounds have been introduced to the public which have rotted the cloth, or failed in removing the dirt, but knowing the intrinsic excellence of this article, they confidently proclaim it as being adapted to meet a demand which has long existed, and which has heretofore remained unsupplied.

To Soldiers and Seamen!!
The Law Has Passed!
Bounties Equalized.

Justice Done the Early Soldiers and Seamen of the War, their Widows and Heirs.

NOTICE has been sent me from Washington, that the Law equalizing the bounty to Soldiers and Seaman was passed Saturday last, July 28th, by Congress.

I am now authorized and prepared to collect this Bounty for every Soldier and Seaman entitled, also for their Widows and Heirs.

Application made personally at my office, or by mail,—the discharge of the Soldier or Seaman should be handed in—as it must be forwarded with the application.

All applications must be made signed, witnessed and sworn to, AFTER THE PASSAGE OF THIS LAW. Many soldiers have been induced to sign papers before the law passed. This practice is irregular, fraudulent and void, and papers in all such cases must be made over.

No. 78 State Street, (opposite Kilby street) Boston.

AFTER an extensive practice of upwards of twenty years, continues to secure Patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Bonds, Assignments, and all papers or drawings for Patents, executed on reasonable terms, with dispatch. Researches made into American and Foreign works, to determine the validity and utility of Patents of Inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents, or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

During eight months the subscriber, in the course of his large practice, made on twice rejected applications SIXTEEN APPEALS; every one of which was decided in his favor by the Commissioner of Patents.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHAS. MASON, Commissioner of Patents.

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they can not employ a man more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.
EDMUND BURKE,"
Late Commissioner of Patents.

"Mr. R. H. EDDY has made for me THIRTEEN applications, in all but ONE of which patents have been granted, and that one is now pending. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend all inventors to apply to him to procure their patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges. JOHN TAGHART."

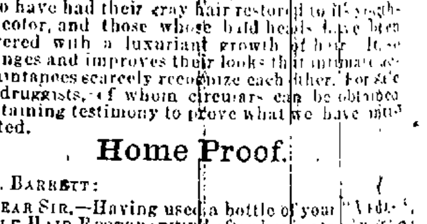
THE



Is creating a sensation among the friends of those who have had their gray hair restored to its youthful color, and those whose bald heads have been covered with a luxuriant growth of hair. It changes and improves their looks that intimate acquaintances scarcely recognize each other. For sale by druggists, of whom circulars can be obtained containing testimony to prove what we have stated.

Home Proof.

MR. BARRETT:

DEAR SIR,—Having used a bottle of your VEGETABLE HAIR RESTORATIVE, after having tried many other kinds without success, I am happy to accede to it the ne plus ultra of all Hair Preparations in the world, and do, myself sincerely and cheerfully recommend it to the public as such.
Yours, &c., JOHN FRANKLIN,
No. 6 Tremont street, Boston.

Testimony from Abroad.

Messrs. J. R. BARRETT & Co.:

I was induced by a friend to make a trial of BARRETT'S VEGETABLE HAIR RESTORATIVE, and I am very much pleased with the effect it has had on my hair. I was nearly half gray, and now, before using one bottle, my head is free from dandruff, and my hair has all the appearance of youth. I fully believe BARRETT'S to be the best Hair Preparation in the world. WM. HAMILTON.
